Geographic Variations in Responses

- For Crowe Park residents, expected frequency of use of the Village Centre was among the lowest with 27% planning to use the centre one or more times a week. For the Barratt Estate, planned use was comparable with that of the population as a whole.
- Both areas expressed levels of support for the centre and for a Police Contact Point similar to those of all households
- Internet access at home was lowest for Crowe Park and these residents would be among the highest proportions who would use such a facility provided at the Village Centre
